

Adjunct Instructor of Chemistry

The Department of Chemistry & Physics at Franklin College invites applications for an adjunct instructor to teach one section of Introductory Chemistry and associated lab session for the spring semester of 2020 that runs from February 3rd-May 21st. This is a part-time, temporary position. We provide a strong, active, and tailored liberal arts education through small class sizes and intentional relationships between students and their faculty mentors. Located about 20 miles from downtown Indianapolis, we support purposeful and practical academic experiences in and out of the classroom that leverage this location as students pursue personal, intellectual and professional growth. Please see www.FranklinCollege.edu for more details. Master's or graduate degree in Chemistry or a closely-related field is required. College-level teaching experience is preferred.

The hire will join the department and the college at a time of exciting curricular change, and a renovated and expanded science building that highlights student research and collaboration. The historically strong Chemistry program is committed to delivering fundamentals needed in the market today through increasingly immersive and hands-on methods of teaching and learning. The college is embarking on a similar initiative campus-wide.

Evaluation of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position has been filled. Applicants should submit all materials including a cover letter, transcripts, Curriculum Vita with contact information for three references via the application link Franklin College Faculty Application:
