Franklin College invites applications for a full-time, one-year appointment in English and Creative Writing to begin August 2021. Teaching responsibilities for this position are equivalent to three courses each for the Fall and Spring semesters. We provide a strong, active, and tailored liberal arts education through small class sizes and intentional relationships between students and their faculty mentors. Located about 20 miles from downtown Indianapolis, we support purposeful and practical academic experiences in and out of the classroom that leverage this location as students pursue personal, intellectual and professional growth. Please see www.FranklinCollege.edu for more details.

The ideal candidate has ability to teach fiction and poetry workshops, an introductory creative writing course, and supervising a student-edited literary magazine in courses built into the curriculum. Candidates with successful teaching experience and willingness to work in a private small liberal arts setting will receive highest priority. Preference will also be given to candidates who can demonstrate a dedication to teaching and the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the College’s continuing commitment to diversity. M.F.A., Ph.D., or ABD status in Poetry, Fiction, or a related field required. Classes are anticipated to be delivered in-person pending public health guidelines. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Evaluation of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a complete application (electronic submissions preferred, MS Word or PDF) including a letter of interest, curriculum vita, and recent course evaluations via the application link – Franklin College Faculty Application.
