Franklin College invites applications for a One-Year Non-Tenure Instructor of Theatre, with possibility of renewal, within the Theatre Department to begin August 2023. Located just 20 minutes from culturally rich downtown Indianapolis, Franklin College is a private, four-year liberal arts college.

The ideal candidate will demonstrate a commitment to teaching and learning, an openness to innovation, and a genuine dedication to working with undergraduates in a small, collegial liberal arts setting. The ideal candidate will be a generalist who can teach public speaking, theatre appreciation, directing, and acting, and direct one production a year. Teaching one course during the college’s immersive term (January) will be required every other year. The candidate will also assist with set construction, as well as hanging and focusing lights, and creating sound cues and supervise student workers. Experience with small theatre programs is an asset.

MFA, Master’s degree in a related field or PhD is required; ABD status will be considered. Benefits package includes health, dental and vision insurance, life and disability insurance, retirement plan, EAP, and tuition benefits for employee and their family.

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis. Applicants should submit letter of application, vita with names of three references, and teaching evaluations through the hyperlink provided below:

Human Resources
Franklin College
101 Branigin Blvd.
Franklin, IN  46131

Franklin College Faculty Application

Franklin College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Individuals with the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the college’s continuing commitment to cultural and gender diversity, pluralism, and individual differences are encouraged to apply.