

Lecturer of History

The Department of History at Franklin College invites applications for a Lecturer of History role during the Fall semester of 2024. This is a part-time position in which the lecturer will deliver 1 or 2 section(s) of our LA 102 course, “The Past and Present: The World Since 1750.” There is a possibility for renewal in subsequent semesters.

We provide a strong, active, and tailored liberal arts education through small class sizes and intentional relationships between students and their faculty mentors. Located about 20 miles from downtown Indianapolis, we support purposeful and practical academic experiences in and out of the classroom that leverage this location as students pursue personal, intellectual, and professional growth.

Candidates with successful teaching experience and a willingness to work in a private small liberal arts setting will receive the highest priority. Candidates who can demonstrate a dedication to teaching and the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the College’s continuing commitment to diversity will also be given preference. A Master’s degree in history required, Ph.D. or ABD strongly preferred. Please see www.FranklinCollege.edu for more details.

Evaluation of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position has been filled. Applicants should submit a complete application (electronic submissions preferred) including a cover letter, Curriculum Vita, transcripts, and contact information of three references via the following link: Franklin College Faculty Application
